

ABSTRACT

5 An electronic device is used to read metadata carried by an image carrier which carries a printed image, such as a photograph. The device, which may be a cellular telephone, interprets the metadata to identify an instruction for the device, such as an instruction to make a telephone call.
Thus, for example, the device may interact with the image carrier to make a 10 telephone call to the individual who is the subject of the photograph.